Renault Sport: Experts in Motorsport Passion

Think Renault and your mind will instantly flick to some of the greatest drivers, cars, technology and moments in motorsport history. We won in the very first grand prix in 1906 and, 110 years since then, our enthusiasm for motorsport burns as deep inside as ever.

Today, Renault Sport leads all of our activities in both motorsport and our performance road cars.

From the Renault Clio Cup, through the mighty 550hp R.S.01, Formula Renault 2.0, the all-electric Formula E up to our Formula One team, we have an undeniable passion for competition running through our veins.

Renault's name appears in the career history of so many great drivers. Half of the grid of the British Touring Car Championship started their career in the UK Clio Cup. Over half of the drivers on the current Formula One grid have raced in our championships.

This passion for performance at the highest level translates into our sports road cars with today's Clio Renault Sport and Mégane Renault Sport.

Renault Sport: Passion and Performance

Hall of Fame

Buying a Renault Sport today is to buy more than just a car. It is to drive the latest in a long line of class-defining products, each pushing the boundaries of engineering expertise and driving dynamics in their respective eras. It is this knowledge, developed and honed over time, which maintains Renault Sport's position in the performance car market. Here's a selection of some of our finest achievements:

Renault 5 GT Turbo (1987)

The Renault 5 GT Turbo is the original 'pocket rocket'. With a 1.4 litre turbocharged engine producing 120 bhp and weighing just 830kg, its exceptional power-to-weight ratio enabled it to reach 62 mph in 7.1 seconds. The R5 GT Turbo brought performance motoring to the masses as the hot hatch era began to enter full swing.

Renault Sport Spider (1995)

The Renault Sport Spider is arguably Dieppe's most uncompromising production car to date. The lightweight aluminium chassis and the absence of a roof meant the Spider weighed just 930kg. Coupled with the 2-litre 150 bhp engine from the Clio Williams, the Spider's power-to-weight ratio made for race-car-like handling and performance. Only 1,726 Sport Spiders were produced worldwide, making it a sought-after collector's car.

Renault 8 Gordini (1964)

The R8 Gordini showed how, with a little magic from Amadée Gordini, an ordinary Renault 8 could be transformed into a genuine performance car. With a tuned 90 bhp engine and close ratio 5 speed manual gearbox, the R8 Gordini could reach a top speed of 105mph. In its unmistakable blue paintwork with twin white stripes, it enjoyed considerable success in rallying, finishing first in the 1964 Tour de Corse rally.

Clio Williams (1992)

Named after the Renault-powered Williams F1 team of the era, the Clio Williams has become one of the most iconic hot hatchbacks of all time. All three phases of the Clio Williams featured trademark dark metallic blue paintwork with 15" gold alloy wheels and gold Williams logos, as well as a purposeful bonnet bulge and air intake. With 150 bhp from its rev-hungry 2.0 F7R engine, the Williams reached 60 mph in 7.7 seconds.

Clio Renault Sport V6 255 (2003)

It is little wonder that the Clio V6 proved a hit with UK journalists, including Jeremy Clarkson, who stated, "in my perfect 10 car garage I would definitely have one of these – no question. From its extended wheelarches housing 18-inch alloy wheels to its side air intakes, the Clio V6 oozed on-road presence. Its mid-mounted 3-litre 24-valve V6 engine producing 255bhp provided a suitably spine-tingling soundtrack to match its exotic exterior.

Clio Renault Sport 182 Trophy (2005)

Designed and conceived solely for the British enthusiast market, with input from the legendary Jean Ragnotti, the Trophy offered exceptional road-holding thanks to its bespoke Sachs Racing dampers. Autocar magazine pronounced it the "World's Greatest Hot Hatch", whilst Evo Magazine awarded it with its "Car of the Decade" award in 2005. This limited edition of just 500 units for the UK is destined to be a future classic.

Clio Renault Sport 200 Cup (2011)

Hailed as the most track-focussed member of the Clio Renault Sport family, the Clio Renault Sport 200 Cup came with Cup chassis as standard. It offered a lower ride height and stiffer springs and dampers, along with the best power-to-weight ratio in its class (166hp per tonne) and a ride height 7mm lower than that of the standard chassis. The Cup also came with a higher ratio steering rack (7.5% quicker than the standard chassis) which enhanced feedback to the driver in conditions of varying grip.

Clio Renault Sport Monaco concept car (2016)

Revealed at the 2016 Monaco Grand Prix, the Clio R.S.16 is the highest performance Renault Sport road-going vehicle ever and its reveal celebrates both 40 years of Renault Sport and Renault's return to Formula One as a constructor. To fully exploit the potential of this powerful engine, derived from Mégane R.S. 275 Trophy-R, Clio R.S.16 comes with chassis and suspension systems featuring solutions developed for racing. Boasting 19-inch wheels and a 60mm wider bodywork, its aggressive design only serves to confirm its purpose: become Renault Sport's most powerful road car.

Mégane R26.R (2008)

At 123kg lighter the Renault Sport Mégane 230 F1 Team R26 on which it was based, the Mégane R26.R set new standards for modern day hot hatches. Bringing race car features to the road, including a carbon bonnet, polycarbonate windows, Sabelt carbon-shelled race seats and six-point harnesses, the R26.R broke the lap record for the fastest front-wheel-drive production car around the Nürburgring at 8 minutes 17 seconds.

Mégane Renault Sport 275 Trophy-R (2014)

The Mégane Renault Sport 275 Trophy-R shot into the record books in May 2014, setting a new benchmark lap time of 7 minutes 54 seconds for the fastest front-wheel drive production car around the Nürburgring in Germany, beating the Mégane Renault Sport 265 Trophy's lap time by 14 seconds. Key to this amazing performance was a big weight saving and an increase of 10hp over the Mégane Renault Sport 265 Trophy. With just 250 cars built worldwide, this recordbreaking Mégane is sure to become a sought-after collector's item.

Technologies

The Renault Sport Monitor v2 is a performance tracking system providing the driver with real-time data. Available across the Renault Sport range, the system takes its inspiration directly from technology employed in motor sport and, until now, seen only on a small number of prestige road cars.

The Renault Sport Monitor v2 collects data through a series of sensors and drivers can scroll through the system's different functions using the steering wheel mounted controls. Information shown on the main dashboard display covers:

- data for the main engine functions including oil temperature and brakes plus real-time engine performance data (torque, power)
- transverse and longitudinal g-force
- lap timer, with memory function
- performance data, such as acceleration times

The Renault Sport Monitor v2 also enables the driver to modify the throttle pedal mapping on Mégane and Clio Renault Sport*. With the 'Sport' mode selected in the Renault Sport Dynamic Management system there is a choice of five throttle settings (linear, normal, snow, sport and extreme). These will adapt the car's acceleration characteristics to the conditions or to the driver's demands. In addition, the gap between the up-shift warning bleep and the rev-limiter can be adjusted in 50rpm increments from zero to 2000rpm on Mégane Renault Sport.

The Renault Sport Monitor v2 is only available with Renault R-Link.

*Not available on Clio Renault Sport 220 Trophy

Clio engine & technologies

Launch Control

Launch control is an electronic system used to control skidding of the front wheels by reducing the engine torque to obtain maximum grip and make a perfect off the mark start.

The system is primed by pressing the brake with the left foot, while pulling on the two gearshift paddles behind the steering wheel in manual mode.

In Sport mode, when the brake pedal is released, the system optimises acceleration, with wheel spin kept in check by the ASR traction control. Gear shifts are also optimised for a smooth, fast getaway.

In Race mode, the traction control is disconnected and gear shifts are entirely manual. It is an "expert" mode that is supremely effective when there is optimum grip, but requires greater skill from the driver in terms of car control.

Paddle shift controls and Multi-change downshift

The Clio Renault Sport range offers paddle shift gear controls with a multi-change downshift function, available for the first time on a production car outside the supercar segment.

Selecting the Race mode setting on the R.S Drive enables downshifts to be accomplished in less than 150 milliseconds.

One of the stand-out features of the transmission is a multi-change downshift function. Inspired by Renault's Formula One technologies, it allows multiple downshifts to be made when braking simply by keeping the left shift paddle depressed.

Mégane engine & technologies

Would you like to experience the excitement of real sporty driving, every day? Sound like a dream? Not any more! With the Mégane Renault Sport the dream becomes reality: with its smooth, powerful and responsive 2.0 16V Turbo engine. With its 'race track' road-handling. With its outstanding performance. With its intense excitement...

The Renault Sport Chassis: Exceptional Road-Holding.

Equipped with the renowned front double-axis strut system, the Renault Sport chassis developed by Renault Sport's engineers ensures exceptional road-holding and optimum traction. The PerfoHub double-axis strut system, borrowed from racing cars, helps separate drivetrain and steering constraints for a better transition of power to the road. Combined with the limited slip differential (optional), it is ideal both out on the road and on a closed track, where it delivers its best performance. The Renault Sport chassis provides maximum sportiness and is the fruit of Renault Sport's technological innovation.

Nürburgring Lap Record For The 2.0 16V Turbo!

Delivering power in sport mode of 275 hp (195 kW) at 5,500 rpm (and torque of 360 Nm from 3,000 rpm), the 2.0 16v Turbo engine ensures outstanding performance. This powerful engine is equipped with a camshaft angle variator at the intake for low-end torque and a turbo blowing at 1.5 bar of pressure for high revs. Redesigned to deliver maximum acoustic pleasure, the engine sound - especially when accelerating - is irresistible!

Renault Sport Dynamic Management:

The Renault Sport Dynamic Management enables one of three modes for the ESC to be selected - 'On' the default mode, 'Sport' for less intrusive ESC action and the full 275hp and 'Off' (complete disengagement).

With the 'Sport' mode selected, there is a choice of five throttle settings the driver can choose through the Renault Sport Monitor v2*: linear, normal, snow, sport, extreme. These will adapt the car's acceleration characteristics to the conditions or to the driver's demands.
